

Alvecote Wood was voted the best managed small woodland in England in 2014 by the Royal Forestry Society in their 'Excellence in Forestry' competition. We are pleased to expand our work with the RFS by supporting their wonderful Teaching Trees educational programme for schoolchildren.

Warwickshire

Alvecote Wood was the first licensee under the new Grown in Britain initiative, promoting sustainable forestry. The Queen was the second licensee (Oops!). There are now around 100 licensees and over 300,000 hectares of forestry that are managed under GiB sustainability criteria.

We continue to be very grateful for grant support as well as technical guidance from the Forestry Commission, plus advice from numerous other partners such as Warwickshire Wildlife Trust, etc. Thank you!

Alvecote Wood is also supported by Pragmasis, our security business: www.SecurityForBikes.com ...and it's not just for bikes!
